

Enovix Co-Founder to Speak at 13th International Advanced Automotive Battery Conference in Mainz, Germany

June 1, 2023

FREMONT, Calif., June 01, 2023 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Enovix Corporation ("Enovix") (Nasdaq: ENVX), an advanced silicon battery company, today announced its Co-Founder and Technical Advisor, Ashok Lahiri, will speak at the 13th International Advanced Automotive Battery Conference (AABC) Europe in Mainz, Germany. The conference is in-person and online June 19-22, 2023.

His presentation begins at 11:40 a.m. (Central European Summer Time) on Wednesday, June 21, 2023, and is titled "Scaling-Up Commercial Batteries with High-Capacity Silicon Anodes." Lahiri will provide an update on the company's battery performance that pairs a 100% active silicon anode with EV-class cathode materials. In addition, he will discuss the potential benefits of the Enovix battery architecture for automotive OEMs including improved thermal performance and higher charge rates. He also will share the company's plans for expansion and high-volume manufacturing in order to meet customer demand within its initial markets in the consumer electronics industry and the company's unique safety system called BrakeFlow™.
